HERE AND THERE

33rd Andorra Open (July 18-26)

Another B.C. player in Europe this summer is Max Gedajlovic, who is currently competing in the Andorra Open, held in the Pyrenean village of Erts. Leading the 160-player field are GMs Julio Granda Zuniga, Andrey and Yuri Vovk, Vladislav Tkachiev, and Artur Kogan with 4.5/5; Max has 3.0 points from the yo-yo effect (losses against an IM and GM, wins against class A and B players). Standings

Quebec Open (July 17-25)

In this millenium the Quebec Open has merged with the Canadian Open three times (2002, 2008, 2014). This year the Quebec Open has merged again, this time with the Championnats individuels d'échecs de la Francophonie (Individual chess championships of French-speaking countries – although entrants don't need to be able to speak French). After six rounds two of the nine GMs participating are tied for first, Samy Shoker (Egypt) and Romain Edouard (France), closely followed by Canada's Eric Hansen. The field includes five players from this province, Jason Cao, Ethan and Kevin Low, Kai Richardson, and Doug Sly, although it appears that Jason has withdrawn after five rounds having scored 3.0 points – whether this is from illness or a result of his punishing recent tournament schedule is not known. 17th Sant Martí Open (July 13-21)

Another week, another tournament for Leon Piasetski on the Spanish summer tournament circuit. This event was the Sant Martí Open in Barcelona, a nine-round Swiss which attracted 150-odd players including fourteen grandmasters. Indian Kidambi Sundararajan and Armenian Karen Grigoryan tied for first with 7.5/9; Leon lost a few rating points with his 5.0 point score. Standings

July Active (July 19) by “Throwback” Roback

This month's July Active included many strong players and a few upsets.

Everything seemed to be coming up Mayo in the first three rounds. In round two, he eventually broke through my Hedgehog English preparation, and in round 3 he even defeated his arch-rival active-aficionado Davaa-Ochir Nyamdorj. However, among the new players that entered this month was a soft-spoken polite fellow who was calmly accumulating a perfect score among the top boards: Madiyar Amerkeshev who eventually placed first with 5.5/6. Madiyar is a man of many talents, one of them being dynamic chess. He has lived in Bulgaria and L.A., but originally hails from Almaty, Kazakhstan (population 1.5 million). He took a ferry over from a university in Nanaimo on the island where he is studying language and culture.

With a FIDE rating of two-thousand (plus tax) he orchestrated a very accurate attack against Mayo, which most BC players will tell you is no easy task. Madiyar was able to orchestrate a series of forcing moves with a Queen and Rook king walk before Mayo could promote with his two connected and assisted passed pawns on the 6th rank. Mayo placed second (5.0/6). Madiyar's dark horsery was thwarted in the final round against the calm and peaceful Jack Cheng. Jack managed to find a thematic Rook sac in a Rook + 2 pawn vs Rook endgame drawing the game and securing Jack clear third position.

A special thanks to Stephen Wright for assisting with the Junior Section of the Active so that I could compete, arbitrate, and do some freelance journalism in the Open Section down the hall. Stay tuned for the West Vancouver Open in Early August!

The adjunct Junior Active was won by unrated Brian Yang ahead of Borna Amjadi and Bill Wang, while Jiayi Shi, Eva Shu, Jason Qian, Ryan Yang, Jeremy Reyes, Jemelyn Reyes, Jackson Price, Dagan Meredith, Visisht Kodali, Venkata Vikhyath Kodali, and Jeremy Liang won medals. Eighteen participated. [Standings

Morzine Open (July 9-17)

Morzine is a commune in the French alps east of Geneva which hosts a chess tournament. The event is in three sections; with a 1,200 euro first prize the main section was a small but strong Swiss, with five GMs in a field of twenty-one players. Max Gedajlovic was one of the entrants, and scored seven draws, a loss and a forfeit win against four GMs, three IMs, and two untitled players. Standings festival website

Canadian Closed (July 10-16)

With a FIDE World Cup coming up in Baku in September, the finalists of which receive coveted qualification spots in the next Candidates' tournament, it was necessary to hold a Canadian Championship/Zonal to determine Canada's representative to the World Cup. Heavy favourites were Bator Sambuev and Eric Hansen, the only grandmasters in the field and the winners of the last two Canadian championships, but fate had other ideas. Hansen was undefeated but gave up too many draws, while Sambuev lost in the penultimate round. This left IM Leonid Gerzhoy in the lead entering the last round, playing white and only needing a draw to the tournament. Unfortunately he lost to IM Tomas Krnan, who thus tied for first with Hansen and Gerzhoy but took the title on tiebreaks.

Three B.C. players made the long journey to Guelph, Ontario for the tournament, Jason Cao and John and Joshua Doknjias, while Neil Doknjias also got into the action as a floater. Best scoring was Jason, whose 5.0/9 left him in a tie for twelfth place. Tournament website; photos at CFC facebook site.

35th Benasque Open (July 3-11)

IM Leon Piasetski had a disappointing result in the annual Benasque Open, his play being affected by a local heat wave (we in B.C. can certainly relate to that) in conjunction with a playing hall without air conditioning. Leon finished the event with 5.5 points from nine rounds (he didn't play the final tenth round). The overall winner was Indian GM B. Adhiban with 8.5/10, a half point ahead of such notables as Julio Granda Zuniga, Cori Jorge, and Daniel Naroditsky. Standings ChessBase report

2015 CYCC (July 6-9)

Held at Windsor, Ontario and uncoupled from its traditional running mate (the Canadian Open, which has disappeared without a trace), this year's CYCC did not match the record attendance of last year's event in Montreal but nevertheless attracted 288 youth seeking national titles in eleven separate sections divided by gender and two-year age brackets (there were no U18 girls). Thirty-seven players from this province made the trek and five of them won section trophies: Emilia Vozian (second, U8G), Veronica Guo (third, U8G), Aiden Zhou (second, U10), Luke Pulfer (second, U12), and John Doknjas (third, U16). There were also junior trophies in each section, for the best score by those in the younger half of each two-year category, and B.C.'s Neil Doknjas (U10) and Pepi Eirew (U16G, although actually U14 – she played up) each won one of these. Coming ever so close were Sherry Tian (U10G) and Joshua Doknjas (U14), who tied for fourth in their respective sections. Congratulations to the winners, and to all the players who represented B.C. so ably. There were no live games this year but one organizational innovation was the uploading of scanned scoresheets to the tournament website, making the played games available relatively quickly (with the caveat that whatever notational errors the scoresheets contained had to be dealt with by the viewer). Many photos of the players and event are also available via the tournament's facebook page.

BRUCE HARPER ANNOTATES

Opponent - Harper, Bruce [A41] Internet Chess Club

1.d4 [0:03:00] 1...g6 [0:03:00] 2.c4 [0:03:00] 2...Bg7 [0:02:59] 3.Nc3 [0:03:00] 3...d6 [0:02:59] 4.Nf3 [0:03:00] 4...Bg4 [0:02:57] Of course Black can transpose into a King's Indian with 4...Nf6, but that would mean someone else was playing Black. 5.Qb3 [0:02:57]

A fashionable move in the 3-minute ICC world. White ignores the threat to his centre and counterattacks Black's b7-pawn. The engine is unimpressed - it recommends the direct 5...Bxf3 6.exf3 Bxd4 7. Qxb7 Bxc3+ 8.bxc3 Nf6 as the route to equality, with White's mangled pawns balancing his bishop pair. I played a more human move. 5...Qc8 [0:02:55] 6.e3 [0:02:54] 6...Nc6 [0:02:54] Here the fluid 6...Bxf3 7.gxf3 Nd7 is worth considering. 7.Be2 [0:02:53] 7...e5 [0:02:54]

Now we are in the "main line" of this variation, but with White's queen on b3 and Black's queen on c8. This probably favours White. 8.h3? [0:02:52] Either an unsound sacrifice or a blunder - from the standpoint of the position itself, there's no difference. 8. d5! would be slightly better for White. 8...Bxf3 [0:02:50] 9.Bxf3 [0:02:51] 9...exd4 [0:02:49] 10.Bxc6+ [0:02:50] 10...bxc6 [0:02:47] 11.exd4 [0:02:50] 11...Bxd4 [0:02:44] Here the position of White's queen on b3 is disadvantageous - were White's queen on d1, White could just take on d4. 12.0-0 [0:02:49] 12...Bg7 [0:02:42] 12...Ne7 13.Re1 Be5 was another way to untangle, but Black didn't want to misplace his pieces. 13.Bg5 [0:02:39] 13...h6 [0:02:39] 14.Rfe1+ [0:02:30] 14...Kf8 [0:02:38] 15.Bh4 [0:02:28]

15...g5!? [0:02:34] The radical solution - 15...Be5 was calmer. 16.Bg3 [0:02:27] 16...f5!? [0:02:32] Consistently trying to shut White's bishop out of the game. 16...Ne7 may have been better, but Black wanted to develop his knight to f6. 17.h4? [0:02:21] A pointless weakening. White's g3-bishop already had an escape square on h2, so there was no reason for White to weaken his kingside. 17...f4 [0:02:30] 18.Bh2 [0:02:20] 18...Nf6 [0:02:24] Black has more or less achieved his dream position - and there's still a lot of work to be done!

19.Ne4?! [0:02:02] There's a clear pattern to White's moves - having sacrificed a pawn, he can only think in terms of attacking Black's king, rather than playing for positional compensation. 19...Qg4?! [0:02:18] An astounding idea, since 19...Nxe4 20.Rxe4 Rb8 won the b2-pawn. Instead Black threatens 20... Qxh4 (really?!) and hopes that White either panics and opens the h-file (21. hxg5?) or accepts Black's sacrifice. 20.Qb7 [0:01:52]

After ten seconds thought, White accepts his opponent's generous and completely unnecessary offer. 20...f3 [0:01:54] 21.Bxd6+! [0:01:02] Amazingly, the engine gives this as the best line, with the more natural 21.Bg3 being equal: 21.Bg3 Nxe4 22.Qxa8+ Kf7 23.Qxa7 Nxc3 24.Qxc7+ Kg8 25.Re8+ Kh7 26.Rxh8+ Kxh8 27.fxc3 Bd4+ 28.Kh2 Be5 29.Qb8+ Kg7 30.Qa7+= Kg6 31.Qf2. 21...cxd6 [0:01:43] 22.Qxa8+ [0:01:00] 22...Kf7 [0:01:41] 23.Qb7+ [0:00:46] 23...Kg6 [0:01:36]

24.h5+? [0:00:39] The decisive mistake. Entranced by the variation 24...Kxh5? 25.Qf7+ Kh4 26.g3+ Kh3 27.Nxf6, when Black's own king prevents ...Qh3, White overlooked Black's reply. 24...Nxf5 [0:01:30] 25.Ng3 [0:00:38] 25...Nxf3 [0:01:28]

26.fxf3 [0:00:37] Unfortunately forced, because 26.Qxc6 is too slow (26.Qxc6? Ne2+! 27.Rxe2 Qxg2 mate). 26...Bd4+ [0:01:22] Obviously 26...f2+ was mate in seven. 27.Kh2 [0:00:27] 27...Qh5# [0:01:19] White is checkmated. 0-1

1965 CANADIAN CHAMPIONSHIP

From Canadian Chess Chat, June 1965, page 135:

As you have probably heard, the B.C. Chess Federation is organizing the 1965 Canadian Closed Chess Championship Tournament which will be held at International House on the U.B.C. Campus in Vancouver during the period June 20th – July 4th, 1965. The exact time will depend on the number of entries and rounds. ... The Tournament Committee hopes to make this fifty-sixth Canadian Championship an even bigger success than those held in 1951 and 1957 in Vancouver. A great deal of hard work is involved to ensure that the tournament will be smoothly run for both the players and the spectators. We of the Committee don't mind the work, but we ask your support to cover the cost of the tournament.

Approximately $2,000 will be needed for the prize money, rent of International House, accommodation for out-of-town players, etc. Other than the traditional fee of $10 from each participant, we have no source of income except donations from chess players and friends of the "Royal Game."

Colin Aykroyd wrote: "Yielding only two draws in eleven games, grandmaster Abe Yanofsky of Winnipeg once again demonstrated that he has no peer in Canadian Chess. At no time was Yanofsky's superiority really threatened during the twelve day tournament at International House, U.B.C. in Vancouver and he had little difficulty in dispatching his two main rivals, Lionel Joyner of Edmonton and Duncan Suttles of Vancouver, in their individual games. It seems unlikely at present that either Yanofsky or Joyner will be able to represent Canada in the Interzonal and Suttles' participation may depend on his showing in the World Junior Championship in Barcelona in August.

After a shaky start which included his only loss (to Yanofsky) and a draw with Mark Schulman, Joyner settled down to produce some really fine chess which included consecutive victories over Macskasy, Vaitonis, and Suttles. His elegant but solid style contrasted with Suttles' "power chess" which made a shambles of the lower half of the scoretable in the early rounds. Many of these short encounters ended abruptly in less than two hours play as Suttles' favourite Robatsch Defence cut a devastating swathe. (This was by far the most popular in the tournament with 19 of 66 games opening with 1...g6!) Superficial play in a sharp position enabled Joyner to mount a successful defence against Suttles' gambit attack while Yanofsky's counterattack from a Caro-Kann Defence soon became irresistible after an early inaccuracy by Suttles.

Lapses against Ron Leonard of Edmonton and Paul Vaitonis prevented Dr. Macskasy from reaching a higher place. Positional skill and technique are still in evidence in his games but a lack of sharpness, and uncertainty in time-pressure situations proved costly. Mark Schulman's tie with Macskasy after his fifteenth place finish in the '63 Closed was one of the features of the tournament which augur well for the future of Canadian chess. He displayed a solid, fighting style which was best exemplified in his 82-move draw with Joyner from an inferior position.

Of the other players, Ray Kerr of Powell River showed a tough style but was inclined to concede the draw in situations where a little patience might have produced a full point. Former champion

Paul Vaitonis played below his former form and only a crafty resourcefulness, especially during his frequent time-scrambles, enabled him to finish as high as he did.

Potter played quite enterprisingly, though handicapped by working during the tournament. Young Ron Leonard also played well, but threw away some well-played games, a defect which experience will probably correct. Litwinczuk (playing against his doctor's advice), Kaltenecker, and Veszely were all making their first appearance in a Canadian Closed. In general they were not able to keep pace with the big guns, although Veszely did extend Yanofsky to 72 moves. Although not as strong as some previous Championships, the quality of play in this year's event was generally high, and Canada's prospects in the 1966 Chess Olympics in Cuba seem most promising. Perhaps grandmaster Yanofsky can soften up some of the opposition when he attends the Capablanca Memorial Tournament in Havana in September!" [Canadian Chess Chat, July 1965]
