CANADIAN YOUTH CHESS CHAMPIONSHIPS

Six intrepid juniors from B.C. have made the trek to Kapuskasing (Northern Ontario) to participate in this year's National CYCC, taking place July 6th to July 9th: Stefan Trandafir and Sam Churchill (U14B), Tiffany Tang (U14G), Alexandra Botez (U10G), and Chelsea and Erika Ruiter (U12G and U10G respectively).

Some sections of the tournament are still ongoing, but it appears that Tiffany Tang has won her section with 4.5/5, while Alexandra is leading hers with the same score. Full B.C. results will appear in the next issue of the Bulletin (July 22), but for those who can't wait, there is web coverage at:

GM FEST by Bruce Harper

Simultaneous Exhibitions

The GM Fest at St. John's school in Vancouver on July 4, 2004, saw Swedish Grandmaster Pia Cramling play 28 opponents in a simultaneous exhibition lasting a little over four hours, after which her husband, Spanish Grandmaster Juan Bellon, took on 18 opponents. In total, the event ran from 1:00 pm to 8:00 pm.

The star of the event was 11-year old Louie Jiang, who defeated both GMs. As White against Cramling, Louie had steady pressure and eventually won a pawn, then a second pawn, winding up in a winning ending. Against Bellon, Louie was in trouble out of the opening but defended tenaciously, and after his opponent missed a win, he found a tactical solution to his problems. Louie, now rated 1699, was rated only 1157 a year ago, and is obviously a player to watch.

Louie's double win robbed Valentina Goutor and Lucas Davies of the headlines they deserved for winning one game and drawing the other. Valentina was in difficulty against Cramling, but a desperate exchange sacrifice turned into a sound exchange sacrifice when Cramling forgot to throw in a crucial exchange of minor pieces. Against Bellon, on the other hand, Valentina had a big advantage in a double-rook and opposite coloured bishop ending, but for once her technique let her down and the game ended in a draw.

Lucas seemed to have a bad position against Cramling (Lucas will probably deny this), but somehow Cramling was unable to find a win. Against Bellon, in contrast, Lucas got the sort of quiet position he likes and after an hour of so of grinding, the deed was done.

Vas Sladek, who generously donated software and ChessBase CDs as prizes, won one of them by defeating Cramling in a very interesting and strange positional game. Bellon avenged his wife's defeat in violent fashion.

Noam Davies also drew Bellon in a hard fought and confusing game.

The end results were therefore that Cramling lost three games (Jiang, Goutor, Sladek) and drew one game (Davies L), while Bellon lost two games (Jiang, Davies L) and drew two games (Goutor, Davies N).

Many of the participants expressed their high opinion of and appreciation for the playing area, which was spacious and well lit, with easy access and parking. Our thanks to St. John's school for their cooperation and support, and especially to Suhkbir Bolina, who not only secured the site but helped with the heavy lifting and other logistics. Our thanks to the many others who devoted time and effort to help make these events a success – and especially to GMs Cramling and Bellon, who made many new friends and fans.

Pairs Event

The second half of the Vancouver GM Fest was held on the evening of July 7, 2004, when Grandmasters Pia Cramling (Sweden), Juan Bellon (Spain), Yasser Seirawan (United States) and Duncan Suttles (Canada) squared off in three "Pairs" games.

The Pairs rules are simple. One player makes the first move for White, then the players alternate, each making two moves in a row. Partners may not talk about the game while playing or otherwise give hints or advice to their partner. They may tell their partner to move ("It's your move.") and tell them to move quickly ("Hurry up, we have 20 seconds left!!"). Profanity and physical violence is not allowed except under extreme circumstances. If a player moves out of turn, the opposing team may either allow the move or insist that the player who ought to have moved make a different move.

In the event, the rules relating to profanity, physical violence and moving out of turn were not invoked.

The time control in each game was 20 minutes per side, with 15-second increments. Each game lasted about an hour. The event ran from 7:00 pm until past 11:00 pm, well beyond the scheduled three hours, mainly because the organizers forgot to budget time for the post-mortems of the games, which were riveting for the spectators.

The final standings were: Seirawan (2.5), Cramling, Bellon (1.5), Suttles (.5).

In the first game, Cramling and Suttles, as White, had an unhappy opening and fell behind on the board and on the clock. Their valiant defence failed and they were ruthlessly destroyed by Bellon and Seirawan in a two rook vs. rook and knight ending played at blitz speed.

In the second game, Bellon and Suttles, as White, were outplayed after a confusing opening, but Cramling and Seirawan failed to capitalize on their advantage and Bellon and Suttles fought back and were at least equal when they lost on time.

The third game was the most interesting of the three, as might have been expected. Spectators were surprised when Cramling and Bellon's 1.d4 was met with 1...Nf6, rather than 1...g6. The game took a strange turn as early as the third move (2.Nf3 b5 3.c3 a5!?) and went from there. Cramling and Bellon sacrificed a meaningless pawn, but as the game went on Seirawan and Suttles gradually obtained a seemingly iron grip on the light squares on the queenside, with the "meaningless" pawn playing an important role.

In chess it is hard to get something for nothing, however, and Cramling and Bellon developed kingside pressure and vague counterplay against Black's uncastled king. Seirawan and Suttles had to control the tactics, but as both teams became short of time, Cramling and Bellon broke open the position and chaos followed. When the dust settled, they were up an exchange for a pawn and it looked as though the ending was lost for Black. It might have been, but in the time scramble Seirawan and Suttles made the most of their chances and in the end it was White who forced the draw by sacrificing their rook to eliminate Black's last pawn.

The Pairs matches were held at St. John's school, which has quickly emerged as one of the best sites for chess events in the Vancouver area. St. John's generously donated their facilities for both this event and for the Cramling and Bellon simultaneous exhibitions held on July 4, 2004. We also thank Laura Harper for kindly allowing the Grandmasters to use her chess set.

Finally, we thank the four Grandmasters for participating in this novel event, which produced more exciting and interesting chess than many top international tournaments. Perhaps we are glimpsing the future of chess.

"A" Class Double Round Robin

Valentina Goutor drew her last game against Noam Davies, which secured her first place. She clearly dominated the group; she didn't lose a game, and finished two points ahead of everyone else. There is one game pending (Chan-Davies), but this will not significantly alter the final results.

The other game of the day featured Ben Daswani, the lowest rated of the group, against James Chan, the highest rated. Ben surprised James and got a point out of him. It was a good come back for Daswani, who had a slow start in the first cycle.

SUPER SATURDAY SWISS

Both FM Fanhao Meng and newcomer Vicente Lee jr. won their games in the last round of the Super Saturday Swiss, which resulted in their sharing the first prize of $400.00. FM Meng defeated Michael Yip in a game that was reminiscent of their last game; Michael had the better position out of the opening, but Fanhao fought hard and gradually started to reverse the tide with his superb calculating abilities. Vicente Lee, the winner of the Keres U2000 Section who is currently rated about 2300, defeated Lucas Davies in a slow game in which Vicente seemed to have the initiative most of the time. Vicente is a newcomer to the BC chess scene and has won all his games with an exception of a draw with Michael Yip.

Noam Davies took the tournament second prize, half a point behind Meng and Lee; he won all his games with the exception of a loss in the second round to Meng. He was given an entry to the Western Canadian Open. Michael Yip and Lucas Davies tied for the third prize with 3.5 points, and received CD gifts courtesy of Chess First Enterprises.

Watch for details of another Super Saturday Swiss beginning July 24th!

CHESS IN BRAZIL

From Eduardo Moura: "Mr. Mauro Amaral - an acquaintance of mine - chess arbiter and organizer from Sao Paulo, Brazil, has asked me if I could help him publicize his chess tournaments and web page among the Canadian chess public. Mr. Amaral regularly organizes IM and GM tournaments in Sao Paulo. In June he is running two closed tournaments with IM norms and in July one tournament with GM norms! His web address is: www.comunic.com.br/xadrez/ Perhaps in the future we could have Canadians playing in his tournaments. I see at Mr Amaral's web page that he already has some US players playing this year, so why not Canadians?! Anyway this may be a good opportunity to strengthen the ties between Canadian and Brazilian chess players."

[Unless I am missing something the website is only in Portuguese (I think!), so any interested parties might want to contact Eduardo first - let me know if you wish to do this - ed.]

ALCAN ANNIVERSARY TOURNAMENT by Mike Bateman

Alcan has asked me to organize a chess tournament for their 50th anniversary celebration here in Kitimat, on the 31st of July. It will be a 15 minutes per game per side, clocked event with 5 rounds. It will start at 13:00 hours, (1 in the afternoon) and go till 17:00 hours (or 5 in the afternoon). It will be held in the main ceremonies tent at the Riverlodge Rec Center. This is not a rated event because it is open to all persons partaking in the Alcan celebrations. I will be purchasing 10 new sets and 10 new clocks which I hope to be using as prizes. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me. This is a free event.

The person who is now looking after the Alcan tournament is Al Annett, [aannett@telus.net ]

FIFTY YEARS AGO

In recognition of this week's simultaneous exhibitions by GMs Cramling and Bellon, we here recall another exhibition from B.C.'s chess past. Apart from Frank Marshall in 1913 and Sir George Thomas in 1926, the province did not receive many strong chess visitors until global transportation improved after the Second World War. Since then we have had a steady stream, including Max Euwe, I.A. Horowitz, Abe Yanofsky, Bob Wade, Herman Steiner, George Koltanowski (several times), Arthur Bisguier, Boris Spassky and Paul Keres, Tony Miles, and Larry Chistiansen.

In 1954 it was the turn of child prodigy turned grandmaster, Samuel Reshevsky. At the time Reshevsky was the strongest player in the West, having tied for second in the 1953 Zurich candidates' tournament with Paul Keres and David Bronstein, behind winner Vassily Smyslov. Reshevsky visited Vancouver on February 8th:

"At the simultaneous exhibition given by Samuel Reshevsky in Alma Hall, 3679 West Broadway, Monday evening, approximately 75 spectators witnessed the grandmaster's excellent performance. Humming snatches of operatic arias, exchanging pleasantries with his 37 opponents and looking as cool as a cucumber, Reshevsky zipped from board to board - seldom pausing for more than a moment at any. He won 34 games, and drew with Frank May, R.A. Pilkington and O. Sarakannas. The latter are to be congratulated upon their fine achievements against such a redoubtable player, who, despite strong opposition, emerged without a single loss." [Vancouver Province, 13 February 1954]
