World Cadet Chess Chamionships (August 21 – September 1)

This year the World Cadet, the U8, U10, U12 age groups of the old WYCC, was held in Weifang, China, a popular destination considering the ethnic origin of many of our players. Of the almost six hundred players competing twenty-two were Canadian, including Veronica Guo, Winston Huang, Eric Jiang, Kate Jiang, William Jiang, Erwin Mok, Gillian Mok, Dorsa Shaeri, Ethan Song, and Dennis Wang from BC. Any world competition is tough and lower age group events especially so, given that many participants do not have FIDE ratings or are woefully underrated. This year no Canadian was able to place in the top ten in any section, nor the top twenty for that matter. The best Canadian scores were achieved by Daniel Xu (U12, 7.0/9), Johnathan Han (U10), who was our best contender for a top-ten finish but lost his last two games to end with 6.5 points, and Kate Jiang (U12 girls), also 6.5 points. The other two BC players with a plus score were William Jiang (U8, 6.0) and Veronica Guo (U12 girls, 6.0). Tournament website standings photos

Vienna Open (August 17-24)

After the Riga Technical University Open (see last issue) four of the BC participants, James Chan, Curtis Lister, Ethan Low, and Kevin Low, headed to a quite different European capital – Vienna. Now in its twenty-first year, the International Vienna Chess Open was held in the city hall, a nineteenth century Neo-Gothic structure in the inner city. Over a thousand players participated in the four sections, including nineteen grandmasters in the A Group where Chan, Lister, and Kevin Low competed. The overall winner was Italian GM Alessio Valsecchi, whose 7.5/9 was a half point ahead of the ten(!) players tied for second; the best Canadian was James Chan on 4.5 points which resulted in a modest rating gain. The B Group included Ethan Low and two more BC players, Doug Sly and Ethan Su; the latter's 5.0/9 resulted in a performance rating of 1856, somewhat above his actual FIDE rating of 1490. NAYCC (August 16-20)

The North American Youth Chess Championships are a continental equivalent of the CYCC, championships by two-year age groups further divided into open and girls sections but restricted to players from North American, in this case Canada, the United States, Mexico, and the Bahamas. The tournament alternates between host countries and this year it was Canada's turn; organized by the Chess'n Math Association, some four hundred under the age of eighteen descended on Queen's University in Kingston, Ontario for the nine-round event. In nearly all sections the majority were Canadian (the exceptions were the U16 and U18 girls), including from this province Daniel Du, Joshua Doknjas, Neil Doknjas, Matthew He, Winston Huang, Zhiqi Ryan Huang, Ryan Leong, Jacky Luan, Lucian Wu, Brian Yang, Henry Yang, Ryan Yang, and Joyce Zhang. Presumably this list would have been longer except for the unfortunate scheduling of the WCCC, whose beginning in China immediately followed the NAYCC. Only one player was brave enough to play in both, Winston Huang, and he had to take byes for the first two rounds of the WCCC.

(photos by Victoria Doknjas)

One of the main attractions of these continental events is the awarding of direct titles and norms to the top three finishers in each section; this results in fierce competition, particularly in the higher sections where IM and FM titles are at stake. Three of our players were in contention; Ryan Yang (U10) and Neil Doknjas (U14) both started with 4.5/5 but were unable to maintain this pace – both finished with 6.0/9 and placed seventh and ninth respectively after the application of tiebreaks. The big BC success story was Joshua Doknjas in the U18 Section. Going into the last round six players were tied for first with 6.0 points, among them Joshua. He won his round nine game for an undefeated 7.0/9; this left him in a tie for first with two others and in third place on tiebreak with an automatic FM title and IM norm – congratulations! LANGLEY OPEN (August 31 – September 2)

This year's Langley Open, the fourteenth since the previous Labour Day Open moved from Victoria to the Mainland in 2006, was in many respects very similar to the 2018 edition but with one important difference – a new record turnout of eighty-two players, up from seventy last year and sixty-two in 2017. This trend in BC chess is, for better or worse, led by the continuing influx of scholastic/junior players has ushered in a new golden age, with numbers not seen since the Fischer boom of the early 1970s: the last BC event on a Labour Day weekend with more entrants was in 1975 with eighty-four players. The latter number could easily have been surpassed had the World Cadet (where a number of BC players were competing) not been scheduled to end on the same weekend.

Held at the Brookwood Senior Centre and organized by the Langley Chess Club (Hugh Long, Brian Davidson, Andrew Hoyer), the Langley Open was the last qualifying event for the BC Closed and also remains the last major tournament in the province in one section. The latter fact combined with the participation of ambitious, underrated juniors provides a fertile ground for upsets and such was the case.

The field included eight players over 2000 but a number of these were roughed up by players in the A and B classes and below; notable upsets were scored by Lyvia Shan, Yawen Zheng, Justin Gao,

Andrew Qiu, Jerald Mamaradlo, Eric Gu, Ethan Su, and Yauheni Basko. Despite this top-ranked Davaa-Ochir Nyamdorj managed to prove that ratings are sometimes accurate by winning clear first place with a perfect 6.0/6, the first perfect score in a Labour Day event since Jonathan Berry in 1990. The other top prizes largely went to juniors or those who were juniors not long ago. Tied for second and third were Ivan Petrov and Ashton Taylor with 5.0 points each, while the U2000 prizes were shared by Jungmin Shinn, Yauheni Basko, Etham Su, and Jason Williamson on 4.5/6. Also with 4.5 points was Jerry Wang who took the first U1700 prizes on his own; the second was shared between Jerald Mamaradlo and Richard Ingram. Two unrated players, Mark Parpatt and Tian Yi Cheng, tied for the U1300 prizes, while the biggest upset prize went to Lyvia Shan. And the coveted BC Closed qualification spot went on tiebreak to Neil Doknjas. Standings and games

IN MEMORIAM

Pal Charles Benko (15 July 1928 – 25 August 2019)

The chess world has lost one of its legendary players at age ninety-one, the Hungarian-American grandmaster Pal Benko. Player and candidate, author, problem and study composer, developer of an eponymous gambit, Benko's life and career are covered in detail elsewhere in literature (notably in the autobiographical Pal Benko: My Life, Games and Compositions) and on the internet (tribute at ChessBase.com) so as is usual in such circumstances we shall concentrate on Benko's connections with Canada and BC.

After defecting from Hungary at the 1957 World Student Team Championship in Reykjavík Benko settled in the United States. He was a World Championship Candidate twice, at Bled/Zagreb/ Belgrade in 1959 and Curaçao in 1962, but found living in America necessitated adjusting to Swiss tournaments and having to play for a win with Black.

For the latter he adopted and promoted what became known as the Benko Gambit, 1.d4 Nf6 2.c4 c5 3.d5 b5, an active system in which Black sacrifices a pawn for strong queenside pressure. In Canada Benko participated in four Canadian Opens, the 1967 centennial tournament in Winnipeg, and the CNE Open in Toronto in 1971. He won the 1964 Canadian Open in Scarborough, tied for fifth in the 1966 edition (Kingston, won by Larry Evans), and tied for fourth in 1970 (St. John's, won by Bent Larsen). His only BC appearance was at the 1971 Canadian Open where he had a poor result after losing a late game to George Kuprejanov (then World Champion Boris Spassky and Hans Ree were the winners). He redeemed himself immediately thereafter at the CNE Open where he and Robert Byrne tied for first with a perfect score ahead of Spassky and Laszlo Witt who tied for second. In Winnipeg Benko scored plus one in the strongest Canadian event to that point –

Klaus Darga and Bent Larsen tied for first. Benko also met BC players in US events, including Suttles, Biyiasas, and Berry, amongst others.

Nicholas (Nick) Peters

It is with shock and sadness that we report the passing of Nicholas Peters. A native of Parksville, Nick participated in both the Chess Challenge and CYCC streams of junior chess and in grade 12 was part of the BC Team at the 2013 Chess Challenge Finals in Ottawa. He won the U1600 Section of the Victoria Open in 2016 but latterly had moved into organizing, assisting Jason Williamson in reviving competitive chess in Nanaimo through a series of recent tournaments (Nick was a student at Vancouver Island University and had been president of the VIU Chess Club). Our condolences to his family and friends.

GONNASON CUP (VICTORIA CHAMPIONSHIP)

Aaron Gonnason (November 25, 1865 - December 27, 1938) was born in Sweden. His family immigrated to America when he was six, where they mined coal and farmed in Kansas. In 1883 Aaron and his elder brother Benjamin departed for the more lucrative possibilities of the Pacific Northwest lumber industry; after a year in Seattle they settled in Victoria, where they found employment in a mill. In 1890 they joined with Joseph J. Lemon to start their own company, Capital Planing Mills (later Lemon, Gonnason and Co. Ltd.); Aaron rose to become president of the company, a position he held for many years. The company eventually ceased operations in 1958, Aaron and Benjamin having died within five days of each other twenty years earlier.

Aaron Gonnason was a competent club player, but was more important as a benefactor: he donated two trophies that bore his name. The first, given in 1921, was a cup for the Victoria city championship, our current subject. The second Gonnason Cup was donated in 1923 for a provincial team championship; the trophy was awarded to the winners of a team match between two clubs, and was retained until a successful challenge by another club.

“Arrangements are underway to hold a chess tournament for the amateur championship of Victoria. Entries will close next Wednesday, January 25, and the affair will be held in the Chess Club rooms, Metropolis Hotel, Yates Street, and will be open to all outside players. The entry fee will be $1.50, which will include the use of the club rooms for the two months during which play will be in progress.” [Victoria Daily Times, 18 January 1921]

“A. Gonnason, of the Lemon-Gonnason Lumber Company, has presented a handsome cup for competition in the local chess tournament. It will be contested for each year and if won by any contestant three years in succession ownership passes to the successful player.” [Victoria Daily Times, 11 February 1921; the latter stipulation was still generally applied in the 1950s]

And what do we know of the winners? William James Barker (1868-1941) was born in Pemberton, Ontario, but came to BC in 1913. A pharmacist by trade, he also won the overall BC Championship in 1923, 1924, 1926, and 1928. Based on the stipulation noted above Barker must have won the city championship again in 1931 and have been awarded the cup outright; it was donated back to the club by his niece after his death. Lawton Partington (1889-1980) was born in Oldham, England and emigrated to BC in 1911. He taught piano, and was at various times organist and choirmaster at Knox Presbyterian Church and Oak Bay United Church. Partington also won the city championship in 1936, but by then a different trophy was in use. F. Knowles remains, for the moment, a mystery. After lying disused for many years the Gonnason Cup is now presented to the winner of the Victoria Chess Club Championship (Roger Patterson for the past three years).
